Prologue:

November 30, 1939:

Mistrust between the USSR and Finland has led to this day, the start of the "Winter War". Battles spread across the Frozen Forests of Finland until March 13, 1940. In a humiliating loss, Finland ceded much of its territory to the Soviet regime to protect key cities of the Union.

August 25, 1991

Finnish Computer Science student, Linus Torvalds, introduces the world to the Linux Operating System. His sour taste of the invasion of his homeland by the Soviets leads him to aid the United States in the Cold War.
